About the Global Health & Fitness Alliance

The Global Health & Fitness Alliance (GHFA) was founded by IHRSA in November 2020, amid the COVID-19 pandemic, with a mission of repositioning the health and fitness sector in the eyes of global governments and health bodies, definitively confirming it as an essential and vital service and a key contributor in the preventative healthcare continuum.

The GHFA is a proactive, globally representative alliance that brings together CEOs, C-suite industry stakeholders, and influencers from across the health and fitness sector.

The Alliance represents the entire global health and fitness club industry while funding research and advocacy to ensure the sector's essential role is first recognized and then realized, working as a team and in cooperation with the relevant authorities.

The GHFA is powered by IHRSA and supported by organizations worldwide—ICREPS, national trade associations, club companies, and suppliers—but operates as a fully inclusive alliance open to all, with no membership fees. All applications are reviewed to ensure global representation, thought leadership, and authority move at pace.
